“ The PeaceJam conference was really inspiring and it made me understand how much power we hold in our hands. We can make change happen. ”
Carolina, PeaceJammer

Join us for a FREE one day youth leadership conference at the University of Leeds, themed around- Sport as a Tool for Peace, with Jamie Jones-Buchanan, professional rugby player for Leeds Rhinos!

The Slam enables young people aged 14-18 to meet an inspirational athlete and learn how they overcame barriers. Students will participate in: facilitated group discussions, teambuilding activities, interactive workshops delivered by local community organisations and the 1 Billion Acts of Peace campaign, which will guide young people through planning their own social change projects.
